

Integrigrity's monthly newsletter offering goodies, special offers, tips and tricks, useful articles and latest news about us and our services.

A Warm Welcome!

from Eugene Lim, General Manager, Integrigrity Corporation

Wow, it's November already! That only means I've been part of the Integrigrity family for more than 2 years now. Strange how time flies when you're having fun. While I've seen people come and go in my time, the journey here is nothing short of memorable. We are constantly adding new energy and talent to the team and that just builds on the strengths and addresses the inadequacies we have had in the past.

To be honest, not all leaks are plugged just yet as we are still looking for a few key people to further tighten the ship. Until we find those elusive talents, some of the existing team members will have to wear multiple hats. That's just another day at Integrigrity.

Even though some family members have left the team, I must say that we are proud to have been a good platform for people to launch their careers and find their footing in the industry. One even came back after 2 years to bring back valuable insight and experience to compliment the team's strengths.

Moving forward to 2010, we are really excited to be taking on more challenges and see what new ways we can add value to our client's proposition as well as grow the talent within. Seriously we are just one big company of geeks who love technology to bits and we won't have it any other way!

Fanatically yours,

Eugene Lim
General Manager

PayPal Now Accepts MYR and Why We Should Care

PayPal is the biggest e-currency on the internet that lets you make payments and transfer money online without having to expose your credit card or banking account details to merchants. It's the most preferred payment method on eBay, which is expected considering PayPal is an eBay-owned company.
